

I recently learned
of Sinclair
Broadcasting's
decision to force
their stations to air an anti-Kerry
documentary days
before the election.

How can the FCC
reasonably counter
arguments that media
consolidation puts
too much power in too few hands, when someone does something as egregious as this?
What legitimacy does
the FCC have if it does not intervene
in this abuse of public airwaves?

I ask that the FCC
step in and stop Sinclair's attempt to sway the November presidential election.

Thank you,

Morgan Sherman

Mathematics
Department
Columbia University
New York, NY